

PUBLIC IS WARNED AGAINST BAD MONEY

Wilkie Pronounces Counterfeit Five Dollar Bill Deceptive.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Chief Wilkie of the secret service announced that a new counterfeit $5 silver certificate (Inc. an head) has been detected in circulation, having first made its appearance in Providence, R. I. The counterfeit note purports to be one of those authorized by the act of congress of Aug. 4, 1886, series of 1894, check letter 1, face plate No. 2, back plate No. 366, with portrait of Oneepapa.

The officials declare it is a dangerous photo-mechanical production printed on one piece of heavy bond paper, but a defect in the plate gives the Indian chief a cross-eyed expression. The blue seal closely approaches the genuine in color, but is badly printed, being coarse and rough, with many broken lines. The back of the note is a very deceptive piece of work, and except for being lighter in color appears much like the genuine. In the sample furnished Chief Wilkie there appears to have been no attempt to imitate the distributed silk fiber.

A new counterfeit $5 United States note also has been discovered. This purports to be one used by the act of March 3, 1863, series of 1907, with a portrait of Jackson, check letter D, No. A-5, 2-7, 176. This spurious production is a straight photograph with the seal and denominational design on the face of the note touched up in color and the back painted a muddy green. The note, however, is by no means cleverly disguised, and should not deceive persons familiar with money.

SWEEDISH ROYALTY

Shown Good Time on Occasion of Their First State Visit to France. Paris, Nov. 2.—King Gustave and the Queen of Sweden, who have spent the last week with King Edward at Windsor, have arrived here on their first state visit. They were welcomed at the "Sovereigns" station in the Bois de Boulogne by President Fallieres Premier Clemenceau and the other members of the cabinet. The party, escorted by cuirassiers, drove to the foreign office, where apartments had been prepared for the king and queen. They were given a hearty greeting by the crowds, and late King Gustave held a reception, at which practically all the members of the diplomatic corps were present, Henry Vignaud, the first secretary of the American embassy, representing the United States in Ambassador White's absence.

A Favoree Powl. "I has been told," said Miss Miami Brown, "dat de parrot is one of de longes' lived birds dat is."

"De statement," replied Mr. Erasmus Pinkley, "is strictly ornithological."

"I wonder why."

"I specks dat one reason why de parrot lives so long is dat he ain't good to eat."—Washington Star.

Giving Money. The difficulty which is faced in America in connection with philanthropy is not to find the people who have the money to give, but to discover the ways in which money may be given wisely. Ideas for wise giving are much scarcer than money awaiting opportunity.—Chicago Trib.

RECOGNIZED SIGNS OF AGE

Incidents That Led Banker to Realize He Was Rapidly Coming Up Under the Wire.

"Yes, I guess I'll have to admit I'm getting old," said a well-known banker of 60 or thereabouts, as he wiped his glasses the other day. "Do you know what makes me realize it more than anything else? I'll tell you:

"When I take up my newspaper at the breakfast table every morning I catch myself turning to the obituary column about the first thing after I skim over the first page. Hardly a day passes that I don't see the name of some one I have known or heard of, and I begin to wonder how my obituary will look and what they will say about me.

"As the years pass, too, my boyhood friends seem to go faster and the great men of my generation are dropping off rapidly. But," he added hastily, "you needn't begin to prepare my obituary just yet; I expect to see the leaves fall a good many more autumns before you'll have a chance to print it."

HOW LOW THE OHIO IS.

"Mountsville, in West Virginia, finding that the low stage of water in the Ohio river, whence its domestic supply was obtained, rendered the water unsafe for drinking purposes, sank a couple of wells out in the middle of the channel near town and is getting a fair quantity that way and of a quality that is far more salubrious than the polluted surface water which most of the river towns are forced to use," said G. B. Rowe of Wheeling, W. Va.

"The oldest inhabitant cannot recall a time when the Ohio was as nearly out of business as it is to-day. Steamboats long ago ceased plying its waters. In many places it has gone completely dry and I have seen crowds of schoolboys within the last month playing ball on sandy stretches that used to be in the middle of the stream many feet under water."—Baltimore American.

THE OLD PHILOSOPHER.

"Let Joy take the fiddle," says the old philosopher, "and the stars will wink at the dancing! I've even seen old Trouble shake the rain from his raggedy hat and take a whirl in the dance when Joy shouted 'Take yer partners!' But there's such a thing as working Joy to death, and sometimes we go to celebrating and lose him altogether. The best ground in the world is middling ground. There's even such a thing as scaring Happiness away!"—Atlanta Constitution.

GIRLS WITHOUT HOMES.

There are said to be no fewer than 50,000 working girls in Berlin who have no homes, no rooms even that they can call their own, but sleep in the Schlafstellen, and in the daytime have no place at all to which to go. The city contributes $500 a year toward three homes where the girls may go when they are sick. Anna Plathow has suggested that the factory owners would benefit themselves by making good homes for the girls.

THE AUTOMATIC AGE.

A New York retail dealer recently sent out some form letters advertising a small article for sale. The letterheads and signatures were printed on a small electric self-feeding press, and the typewritten work was executed on a machine. The sheets were folded on another appliance. The envelopes were addressed on an addressing machine and were sealed and stamped automatically on still another device. The money received in reply was placed in and rung up on a cash register and the deposit in the bank was checked on a slip record of an adding machine.—System Magazine.

THE HOME-MADE STOVE.

Miss Anna Barrows, teacher of domestic science, reports that after six months experimenting with the different fireless cookers on the market she is convinced that none of them is any better than the home made one that any woman can construct for herself. Fireless cookers with three holes cost in the neighborhood of $10, while the materials for making one can easily be bought for less than $2. The only difficulty in constructing these simple conveniences at home is in getting vessels without handles and with close fitting lids.

RAILWAY EMPLOYEES GET TOGETHER TODAY

Organization is Outgrowth of Federation Convention.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 2.—Today in this city there will convene two national labor bodies, adjuncts to the American Federation of Labor, which Saturday closed its annual convention here. These two organizations, which represent a membership of over 1,000,000 men, are the building trades and the railroad employees departments, the latter an organization of 500,000 men formed in Denver on Saturday last. The building trades department, with about 600,000 members, has been in existence about a year. The branching out of the railway employees is a new venture that has for its purpose the organization of every shop and track employee connected with the railroads of the country. The leaders hope to secure the co-operation and eventually the affiliation of the trainmen, conductors, engineers and firemen, and thus make the railway employees' organization the most powerful of its kind in the world. The building trades department will have 18 powerful international unions represented at its convention, and will be in session eight days.
